Bay man, Poplarville woman die in wrecks

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A 21-year-old Bay St. Louis youth died of injuries sustained in a one-car wreck on US-90 in Pass Christian early Saturday, and a 47-year-old Poplarville woman Friday night became the latest traffic victim on Hancock County's Hwy. 603.

David Rhodes, 21, 212 Victoria St., Bay St. Louis, son of Bay St. Louis Parks and Playgrounds Director Willys W. (Billy) Rhodes, was dead on arrival at Gulfport Memorial Hospital following the 2:30 a.m. Saturday accident, according to a hospital spokesman.

A State Highway Patrol spokesman said later Saturday, "Rhodes apparently ran off US-90 and hit a tree west of Clarence Street."

"It was a one-car wreck, but there was no determination of the accident's cause," the spokesman added.

Highway Patrolman Homer McNight of Long Beach, Mobile Medic and Hogan's Wrecker Service of Pass Christian responded to the accident scene.

Rhodes is the son of Mrs. Joy Rhodes, also of Bay St. Louis.

Visitation for Rhodes will be 7-11 p.m.

tonight at Edmond Fahey Funeral Home with rosary at 8 p.m.

A Funeral Mass will be 10 a.m. Monday at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Geraldine Necaise, 47, of Route 4, Box 284, Poplarville died Friday night in a two-car wreck on Hwy. 603 about one-mile north of the White Cypress Community.

A Highway Patrol spokesman said Saturday morning, "Mrs. Necaise was dead at the accident scene."

"One of the cars was apparently on the wrong side of the road," the spokesman reported as the accident cause.

Norvell Necaise, 45, husband of Mrs. Necaise was driving their automobile at the time of the accident.

A Gulfport Memorial Hospital spokesman stated, "Mr. Necaise is in stable condition with multiple contusions, lacerations and a possible cervical fracture."

He was transferred from Hancock General Hospital to the Gulfport hospital early Saturday morning.

The highway patrol said, "David W. Ladner, 24, Route 1, Box 465, Pass Christian was the driver of the other vehicle, but was not injured in the accident."

"David Necaise was also injured in the accident and taken to Hancock General Hospital," the highway patrol spokesman said.

However, the highway patrol did not know in which vehicle David Necaise was riding, his age nor his address.

A Hancock General Hospital spokesman said, "David Necaise was treated for minor injuries and released."

However, the hospital would not release the age or address of David Necaise.

Highway Patrolman David Kenny, John J. Pernicaro Wrecker Service and Mobile Medic responded to the Hwy. 603 accident.

Diamondhead house burglary investigated

By RICH ADAMS
The Hancock County Sheriff's Department has no suspects in a Thursday afternoon burglary of televisions, cash, jewelry, and clothing from a Diamondhead home, according to Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson.

Sidney Watson of Diamondhead reported to the sheriff that three televisions, six watches, a clock radio, $166 in cash, several pieces of gold jewelry, and a number of golf blouses were allegedly taken from the home Thursday between 12:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m., the sheriff reported.

Peterson said entry to the home was possibly made either through a window or through the door with a key.

"We have determined through tire tracks that a vehicle was parked on a street behind the home, and the alleged burglars left a path from the house through the back yard to the spot where the car was located," Peterson said Friday afternoon.

"Prints are unavailable," he added.

Peterson reported that Investigative Officers Delbert Seay and Alvin Ladner are investigating the case with Deputies Fairley Necaise and Mary Beth Iwanzyk performing initial investigation into the alleged burglary.

Oil field supply industry eyes Stennis Park land

By RICH ADAMS
The owner of a company which produces drill pipe protectors told the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission he is interested in leasing four acres of land at Stennis International Airport to relocate his Houma, La. business.

Claude Boudreaux, a seasonal resident of Diamondhead and a former Houma attorney, told the commission Thursday he wants to build a production plant at the airport, initially employing 10 or 12 people.

That number could double as demand for his product increases, Boudreaux told the commission.

"We are not strangers to this area. We own a home in Diamondhead and have had one son attend Annunciation Elementary School and two others graduate from Bay High School and St. Stanislaus," Boudreaux said.

He produced a sample of the drill pipe protector, constructed of high-impact rubber which had been pressure-sealed over a piece of hinged steel.

"I feel the labor market is more suitable here than in Houma, which is a boom town. It is difficult to keep any employee for a length of time when they can go to offshore oil rigs and wash dishes for $7-an-hour," Boudreaux explained.

"In two short years we have become well-known internationally. We have offices in Louisiana, Texas, Alaska, and Oklahoma and are setting up distributors in Saudi Arabia, Scotland, and Singapore," he continued.

"Our product is known to hold better than our competition's. We have customers in Egypt, Pakistan, Venezuela, and Mexico," he added.

Union president objects

Bay teacher, administrator pay scale oked by trustees

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Bay St. Louis School District Board of Trustees approved 1980-81 school term salaries for all employees following an executive session of more than two hours at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

Superintendent J.D. McCulloch said, "Since this deals with personalities, I suggest going into executive session."

After the session, the board approved a salary scale recommended by McCulloch despite objections from a local teacher union president.

Andrews Wilkinson, president of the Bay St. Louis Local, American Federation of Teachers, stated, "The recommended pay scales increase the disparity between the administration and teachers."

The approved salary scale for teachers on a nine-month year provides the following annual compensation:

—A-Certified teacher beginning salary, $10,400; with 13 years or more experience, $13,785.

—AA-Certified teacher beginning salary, $11,200; with 15 years or more experience, $15,425.

—AAA-Certified teacher beginning salary, $12,000; with 16 years or more experience, $16,860.

The dollar amount for administrators' salaries was not revealed at the school board meeting and McCulloch was unavailable for comment.

Friday, but calculations based on percentages and/or annual months employed show the salary for:

—Superintendent McCulloch is $31,468;

—Assistant Superintendent Donald Caldwell is $27,966;

—Senior High School Principal Robert Magee is $25,852;

—Junior High School Principal W. J. Cameron is $23,492;

—Assistant High School Principal Frank Ladner is $23,285;

Stocking effort adds bass to Bay

By EDGAR PEREZ
Gulf Coast Research Laboratories in Ocean Springs Thursday released some 160,000 fingerling striped bass into Bayou LaCroz at Hwy. 603.

The stocking effort was accomplished in cooperation with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service regional office in Jackson.

Larry Nicholson of Ocean Springs, GCRL's anadromous fish project leader, said the fingerlings were shipped to Hancock County by the federal agency from its Carbon Hill National Fish Hatchery near Birmingham, Ala.

Nicholson explained that striped bass, as salmon, are anadromous fish; that is, they will return from salt water to the fresh water where they are born to lay eggs.

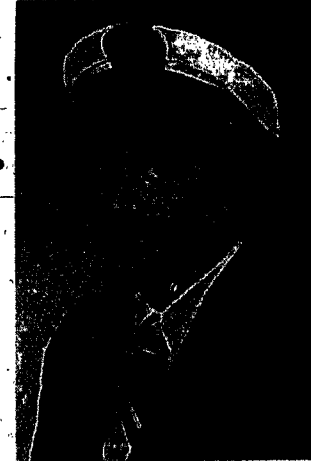

He said striped bass are frequently found as far out as the Mississippi Sound's Barrier Islands.

GCRL personnel last week were seining in Bay St. Louis in an effort to document success of the laboratory's striped bass stocking program.

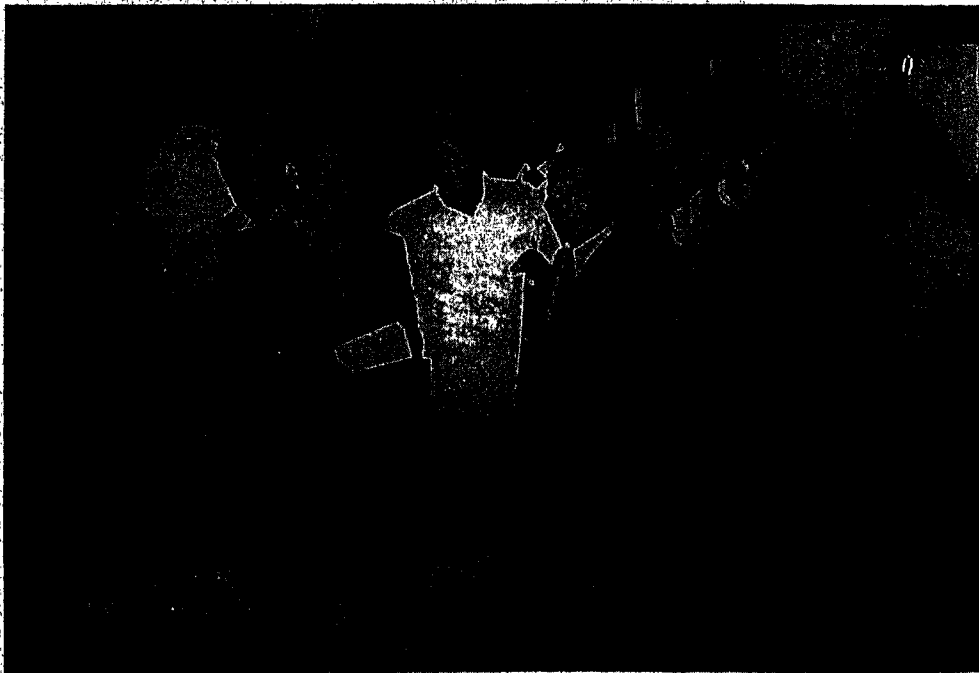

"We really have no way of telling how many of the fingerlings will survive to the adult stage," Nicholson said, adding, "There are so many variables, such as what's out there to eat them."

GCRL currently is raising some 500,000 striped bass fry in Ocean Springs which are slated for release in Coastal waters when they reach fingerling size sometime during the first week in July.

Nicholson said a good percentage of those fish will also be released into Bay St. Louis waters or tributaries.

FLEET SURGEON—John D. Rutherford III of Bay St. Louis is the fleet surgeon for the 1980 Mississippi Deep Sea Rodeo July 3-4 in Gulfport. Son of J. D. (Big John) Rutherford Jr. who is to be the rodeo's King Neptune this year, Dr. Rutherford will be on standby throughout the event to provide medical assistance whenever necessary. Russell Elliot of Bay St. Louis, rodeo spokesman, noted, "We are honored to have Dr. Rutherford selected from among all Gulf Coast doctors for this position."

LOAN IS OFFICIAL—Cleveland Wyatt, center, holds bond with Doyle R. Hayden presenting checks to the Kiln Water and Fire Protection District. The district now under construction was financed by Farmers Home Loan Administration (FmHA) through a $300,000 loan and $200,000 grant for a water system to serve 217 families in the Kiln area. The fire protection and water system is now under construction. Also attending the signing are, from left, James Ginn, vice-president of Hancock Bank which is handling short term financing; Vernon (Dutch) Haas, KFandWPD manager; Michael Haas, water district attorney; Hayden, FmHA district director; Wyatt, water district chairman; James N. Travira, Sam

Pernicaro and President A.A. Keller, all of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors; Billy Sills, water district secretary; C.J. Maultzay, water district vice-chairman; and Robert Bilbo, water district commissioner. At the recent signing, Wyatt reported an additional 79 families in the Rocky Hill area have petitioned the Kiln Water District to include them on the water system. Keller offered the new water district full assistance from the Board of Supervisors, and Hayden said additional loan money will be available. Garner and Russell and Associates are engineers for the project which includes in addition to the pipeline distribution system a well, fire truck, and elevated storage tank. ## MRS. DONNA J. PHELPS

Mrs. Donna Jean Phelps, 49, 537 23rd St., Gulfport died Thursday, June 12, 1980 in the Gulf Coast Community Hospital at Biloxi.

Mrs. Phelps, a native of Toledo, Ohio, had been a resident of Gulfport for 12 years. She was a member of the Salvation Army, the SA Home League and the SA League of Mercy.

She is survived by her husband, Lester Phelps, Gulfport; two sons, Roger L. Phelps, Gulfport and William L. "Billy" Phelps, Long Beach; four daughters, Mrs. Elaine French and Miss Margie Phelps, Gulfport; Mrs. Charlotte Ladner, Nacaise Crossing Community, and Mrs. Helen Ewing, South Carolina; her mother, Mrs. Rachel L. Parrott, two brothers, Raymond Parrott and Kenneth Parrott, all of Monroe, Mich.; and 17 grandchildren.

Artichokes were made for stuffing - and for enjoying! Although I'm very fond of steamed artichokes served simply with melted butter or other sauce, I find them especially delicious when bursting with a savory mixture of shrimp or ham or ground meat or this or that, enhanced by seasoned crumbs, olive oil and what have you. So here's:

STUFFED ARTICHOKE
Prepare the artichokes for stuffing. Holding by the stalk, hit the top of each artichoke against your cutting board so as to loosen the leaves and make it easier to open the 'choke.

Cut the tops off (about a half-inch) with a sharp knife. Trim the thorny leaf tips, remove the small bottom leaves and trim the stem even with the base of the artichoke. Spread the leaves apart, pull out the soft tender center leaves and scrape off the fuzzy, thistle center ('choke) with a small spoon. And stand the artichokes upside down while you mix the stuffing - or 'dressing.' So get busy:

6 large artichokes
1 1/2 cups seasoned bread crumbs
4 pods garlic, minced
1/4 cup minced parsley
Cup of chopped shrimp or ham (cooked)
1 cup grated Parmesan cheese, or mixture of Parmesan and Romano
Salt and pepper to taste
1/2 pint olive oil (approximately)

Mix together the crumbs, garlic, parsley, grated cheese, shrimp or ham, and seasonings. Start from the outside, with the outer leaves, put stuffing on the leaves with a teaspoon, working to the inside leaves.

Mold the artichokes lightly between your hands so the stuffing will stick to the leaves.

Pack tightly into a heavy pot (containing water or about a quarter up on the artichokes), so that they won't topple over and lose stuffing into the water. Bring to a boil, then cover and steam over low heat for 45 minutes or so, until a leaf can be pulled off easily. (Serves 6).

P.S. I like to put a slice of lemon, held with a toothpick atop each artichoke, with a sprinkling of cayenne pepper over. Remove the lemon slice when artichokes are done, else the lemon flavor may be too strong. And some cooks add extra olive oil and a couple of halves cloves of garlic to the cooking water for extra flavor.

Teacher pay.....CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1A

—North Bay Elementary Principal Rogers James is $20,823;
—Waveland Elementary Principal James Baldree is $19,664;

—Assistant Junior High School Principal Mike Cave is $15,916; —Athletic Director Wilmer Seymour is $11,776.

Staff and other personnel will receive a 10-percent across-the-board salary increase and teacher-aides will receive an 11 percent across-the-board increase.

Wilkinson was placed on the board's agenda prior to the executive session.

"I don't know what the salary scale is yet. I would like to defer until I know what the scale is," Wilkinson said.

After the closed session Wilkinson addressed the board and stated, "Please understand I appreciate the fact that the cost of living has gone up, but I think the teachers are entitled to the same percentage raise."

"Over the last six years teachers have received an average annual raise of $1,215 per teacher," the local president reported.

"If the administrators' raises were reduced to $1,215 instead of 10 percent the district would save $8,272," Wilkinson explained.

"I'm interested in this because of the problem with the teacher's insurance," Wilkinson said.

"This year's legislature has provided for teacher's insurance. I think money should be kept aside for this and our teachers' should be a part of this program," Wilkinson reported.

"We will save over $8,000 by increasing administrators' salaries the same amount as teachers. I would like to recommend that administrators' salaries be limited to the flat amount of increase teachers are receiving," Wilkinson stated.

"We all shop at the same stores... What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander," Wilkinson added.

"Teachers should plan with the board for an insurance program," Wilkinson stated.

Trustee James Ginn said, "Your percentage compared to administrators will show 75-80 percent of the percentage increases are identical to the teacher increase."

"Obviously, with a percentage increase the bigger the salary the more money you will receive," Ginn added.

School Board President Mrs. Joseph (Virginia) Gex announced, "The board will hold a meeting for a new life and medical insurance program at 7 p.m. Monday, June 23 in the Bay Senior High Cafeteria."

"Each speaker will be allowed 10 minutes," Gex added.

Port body to request employee pay raises

By RICH ADAMS

An across-the-board pay increase for all employees of the Hancock County, Port and Harbor Commission will be requested next month in the 1986-1987 fiscal year budget, according to Executive Director Wilson Webre.

Webre also said budget discussion will 'not be a secret.'

Last year a $210,000 budget was approved on July 19, and then Commission President J.D. McCullough ordered the contents of the budget to remain a secret.

That budget was rescinded one week later and returned to the commission's budget committee.

Upon appointment of this year's budget committee Thursday, Webre told commissioners the port body employees are not receiving pay comparable to workers in similar fields, adding wages will be "a big issue" in this year's budget discussions.

"I'll make no bones about it. I am going to request an across-the-board pay increase for every employee of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission," Webre told the commissioners Thursday.

"Only three people employed by us draw in excess of $5 per hour. I think we must realize that labor rates are increasing, as are grocery prices and the cost of living," he continued.

"I feel we must aim at an adequate budget to meet our growing needs. I would like to see the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and other political entities go along with the pay raise. It is time this need is recognized by all in this business," the executive director added.

Webre also added he does not expect to "jar the supervisors with a request for millage this year," explaining the commission "expects more revenue from rentals this year."

"We are going to keep the four mills we have now, two mills in straight taxes and two mills in ad valorem taxes," Webre explained Thursday.

Commissioners Vic Franchiwick, Fred Curet, Ronald Artigues, and David McDonald were named to the budget committee and will meet Tuesday at 3 p.m.

In other business, Webre reported Walle Corporation, makers of printed labels and logos, are "warming up plans" to construct a business office at Stennis International Airport off Hwy. 90.

Walle Corporation has had a lease-purchase agreement on land at the airport for five years, the executive director reported.

McDonald said the commission's covenants call for an industry to begin construction on its land within 12 months after signing a lease agreement with the commission or the county may re-purchase the land.

"Why don't we drop a note to Walle and say we appreciate the call, adding that several members of the commission questioned the corporation's non-compliance with our covenants and are considering re-purchasing the land through the re-purchase clause," McDonald said.

Webre said if the company decides to build on the land at this time, some 50 to 60 jobs, mostly for females, will be created.

"We have a chance to fill a vacuum in the female job market with this company," Webre explained.

McDonald said Walle is "one of the oldest label makers in the country," which produces all labels for the Atlantic and Pacific (A&P) Food Stores.

The commission took no action on the matter.

Also at Thursday's meeting, Webre reported that the commission's insurance company has requested a second estimate on tornado damage to the Stennis Airport administration building.

Webre said he had obtained an estimate by Mitchell Engineering for replacement of the roof, some 14,000 square feet at $1 to $1.50 per square foot.

"I have contacted Shambler Engineers of New Orleans, who agreed to come down and make an estimate. They seem to know quite a bit about this type of building," Webre stated.

The commission will meet again June 19 at 7:30 p.m.

Mobile Medics take 1st place

Two emergency medical technicians from Mobile Medic Ambulance Service, Inc. were named overall first place winners during a recent 1980 Emergency Medical Symposium in Biloxi, according to John Rester, president of Mobile Medic.

The two members, Jeff Cartledge and Paul Kinney, both of Gulfport, earned first place in cardiopulmonary resuscitation and patient assessment and third place in the written portion of the competition, Rester said.

They competed with 16 two-person teams made up of emergency medical personnel from Mississippi.

"This competition was held to allow EMS personnel to demonstrate their medical training and skills and to learn, in the judges opinion, where they needed improvement," Rester said.

"We are proud of the achievements of these two young men and believe they exemplify the quality emergency medical service provided by Mobile Medic Ambulance Service, Inc."

Alcoholic celebrates 30 years of sobriety

We understand the Bay-Waveland Group of Alcoholics Anonymous this week is joining with one of its members in celebrating his 30th birthday in AA.

The AA's tell us that means after reaching a point some 30 years ago at which his life was unmanageable and he was powerless over alcohol, he has been successful in the remarkable achievement of 30 years of sobriety.

We would like to join the local AA members in offering our congratulations to a man whose success in conquering that devastating disease has spanned so long a period.

Members report the AA groups in Bay-Waveland and Pass Christian are popular and active organizations, regularly drawing visitors from across the Gulf Coast, Picayune, Slidell, Bogalusa and New Orleans to the five meetings held here each week.

We feel it is a great source of pride to our community that these residents are steadfast in their unselfish offering of assistance to one another and any newcomer in distress because of alcoholism.

And we offer our further congratulations Alcoholics Anonymous from around the world who will be celebrating 'The Joy Of Living' at their 45th Anniversary International AA Convention in New Orleans July 3-6.

A large contingent of Mississippi AA's are expected to join an estimated 30,000 to 40,000 alcoholics in the 'City That Care Forgot.'

That sounds like one hell of a party!

Appendicitis Still Is Serious Ailment

Acute appendicitis, once a highly fatal infection, can be as much a killer today as it used to be, if it is neglected.

The appendix is a small pouch arising from the first portion of the large bowel. A useless organ in man, it usually is about the diameter of a lead pencil and three or four inches long.

The trouble comes when a bit of bowel content enters the appendix and lodges there. The appendix fills with secretions and swells to an inflamed, pus-filled organ.

If the appendix ruptures, it spills its infected contents into the abdominal cavity. It can spread as a generalized infection to most of the lining membrane of the abdomen, the peritoneum, resulting in peritonitis, a serious threat to life, the American Medical Association points out.

The three chief signs of appendicitis are abdominal pain, nausea and vomiting, and tenderness in the right lower portion of the abdominal wall. Unfortunately, there is great variation in symptoms, and quick diagnosis is sometimes difficult. The doctor, before operating, must rule out a number of other conditions which appear to be acute appendicitis.

Treatment is surgical. Removal of the inflamed appendix before it bursts is a comparatively simple operation and the risk is quite small. If the organ ruptures, treatment is much more complex.

During abdominal operations for other problems, it is common to remove the appendix if this can be done without adding to the surgical risk. This reduces risk of appendicitis later.

Acute inflammation of the appendix is the most common reason for abdominal surgery. Every 15th person (7 per cent) becomes afflicted with acute appendicitis at some time in life. All ages are involved, but the most common is between 20 and 30 years. Some 200,000 cases of acute appendicitis are diagnosed each year in the United States. In children, the recovery rate is very high. Appendicitis is much more severe in older persons.

The family was selected with 21 other families from among some 400 families which were interviewed Wed. May 21 and 22 in New Orleans. They were notified by letter last week from Howard Felsher, an associate producer of the show, their selection is final. They will be notified later when they must report to Hollywood. Congratulations and Good Luck!

News from the governor's office

Governor William Winter last week signed a group of bills which would give state agencies new authority to aid Mississippians following disasters. The five bills were part of the legislative program Winter submitted to lawmakers.

The new laws give the governor expanded powers to provide relief following a natural or technological disaster. Among the powers given to the governor are statutory authority to declare states of emergency, order evacuations, and transfer state employees to beef up disaster relief efforts.

A number of Mississippi counties and municipalities have been hard hit by recent flooding, tornadoes, and hurricanes, however, state residents have been largely dependent upon the federal government for relief.

Previously, efforts by the state to provide significant disaster relief required the governor to call a special session of the legislature at considerable expense to taxpayers.

During his campaign for governor, Winter announced his intent to work toward institution of a comprehensive disaster relief program to aid disaster victims and eliminate the need for costly special legislative sessions.

"The law we have been working under have proven insufficient to bring speedy effective disaster relief to our people," Winter said. "The governor has lacked the necessary authority to oversee proper administration of services and many state agencies could not transfer personnel with expert knowledge to another agency to aid in relief efforts."

Winter said the new laws should speed the recovery efforts following a disaster and should provide for a more orderly process for administration of disaster relief services.

Under new laws, the state Budget Commission will have authority to allocate funds to eligible state agencies which have depleted regularly appropriated funds below a level which would prevent them from carrying out normally assigned duties as the result of a disaster.

Among other changes, the Mississippi Civil Defense Council will become the Mississippi Emergency Management Council. A Mississippi Emergency Management Agency will be created, serving as a state-level counterpart to the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

Other laws will allow a school district to receive full funding when the school term has been cut because of disaster. Other provisions grant relief from foreclosure on mortgages when homeowners are unable to make payments because of a disaster.

Grants or loans will be available to counties, school districts, junior colleges, and municipalities for repair of public properties damaged or destroyed during disaster.

$27.7 MILLION CONTRACT AWARDED AT ARMY PLANT

The U.S. Army has awarded a $27.7 million contract for construction of a key unit of the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant in Hancock County, it has been announced by Congressman Trent Lott, R-Miss.

Lott said he was notified that Centex Construction Co. of Dallas, Tex., was the successful bidder on the contract to build the load, assemble and pack unit at the complex. Construction on two other units, the projectile metal parts facility and the cargo manufacturing facility, is proceeding.

Ground was broken in January, 1978, for the plant, which will produce advanced 155 mm artillery ammunition for U.S. and NATO forces. The first Army ammunition plant to be built in a quarter-century, the facility will employ an estimated 1,500 persons when it becomes fully operational.

Bits 'n pieces

We have had mentioned to us several times the fact that during the monsoon season, Bay St. Louis was unable to repair the pot holes.

Now people are wondering, since it has been over three weeks and no rain, why there seems to be little effort to patch the pot holes.

The streets are in bad shape and we feel that in a few places some patch work could aide the motorist very much.

We had a friend call us early Thursday morning wanting to know what was so great about the fact that there all of a sudden seems to be a need for a south end school in the county system. She calls this the same verse the third time around, because she recalled the same need and yet the people voted it down twice before.

One thing we hope that might be in favor now is the fact the we have a new county superintendent of education and possibly more people will work with him for the needed facility. As we have mentioned before, the longer our feet drag, the more our children suffer.

Remember, the children of today are the leaders of tomorrow.

We have to extend our congratulations to Coach Roland Ladner who will be honored in Jackson at a banquet as the 1980-81 Boys Basketball Coach of the Year, next month.

Coach Ladner, the head mentor of boys basketball at Hancock North Central, works hard for his players and school and should be commended for his fine coaching ability.

Almost every time a Coach Ladner team takes the court another record falls. He has brought many a title to Hancock County and we hope he will continue to bring more home.

We know his players think he is the greatest, even those who have competed against his teams.

His knowledge of basketball is probably one of the best in the nation for high school coaches.

We seem to be having more and more accidents now that summer is here. We hope all of us will drive a little more carefully.

We have so many children out on bicycles, (and some of us adults too), so please lookout for them.

The thing that worries us is the fact that many of the accidents are not just fender-benders and many people are being seriously injured.

Also on the increase are accidents on motorcycles, riders seem to become over confident many times.

Just like a lack of respect for those on bicycles, we see the same lack of respect for those on motorcycles.

Take stock in America.

South Mississippi Methodists to convene in Jackson Monday

Evangelism will get top billing at this year's annual meeting of the Mississippi Conference of the United Methodist Church when it convenes in Jackson.

Kicking off the five-day conference will be a giant rally at the Mississippi Coliseum on the State Fairgrounds Sunday night at 6:30 p.m.

"New Decade-New Commitment" will be the theme for this year's rally, with Dr. G. Ross Freeman of Atlanta as the keynote speaker.

Freeman is executive secretary of the Southeastern Jurisdiction's Council on Ministries.

All of the business sessions of the conference will be held at Galloway Memorial United Methodist Church.

Bishop Mack B. Stokes will call the conference to order at 2 p.m. Monday.

Delegates attending this conference will come from the 357 pastoral charges which serve the 687 local United Methodist Churches in the southern half of the state.

Local churches elect one lay delegate for each minister serving a charge. Conference officials are planning on an attendance of 800 delegates this year.

This will be Bishop Stokes' last year to preside over the Mississippi Conference, and a special recognition service has been planned for the Bishop and Mrs. Stokes at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Bishop Stokes has reached the age of retirement set by the denomination, and will wind up his eight year tenure in the Jackson Area on August 31.

Programs and Proposals

While most of the Mississippi Conference's agenda is made up of reports from its many program agencies and institutions, there are a few proposals coming before the delegates.

Celebrating its fifth consecutive year for having a net gain in membership, conference leaders are proposing a goal of winning 12,000 new members during the next four years.

"This goal calls for winning 3,000 new members a year for the four years," the Rev. Paul Harris, director of the conference's Council on Ministries explained. The conference now has 121,849 members.

A proposal to study capital punishment will come before the conference. During its 1979 session, the Mississippi Conference delegates bypassed a motion calling for affirming the United Methodist Church's position opposing capital punishment in favor of a substitute motion calling for this study.

The study, which takes the form of a booklet prepared by five clergy members and one lay person, (an attorney) seeks to answer the questions

"Is capital punishment ever right?"

One local church wants the conference to instruct its Board of Church and Society to come up with a plan of action for working for better television programming.

If approved, the resolution which comes from the Richland United Methodist Church, would commend the Tupelo-based National Federation for Decency, and would call for a similar action-oriented program.

Other program proposals include the establishment of a pilot project to provide a model for the strengthening of ethnic minority local churches, to be staffed by a full-time resident pastor and lay staff.

The proposals are in addition to the 27 on-going concerns of the conference which call for camps for children, youth and adults; for church-wide mission studies, an evangelism convocation, curriculum workshops and many other programs.

Baptism

CHRISTOPHER ESTRADE

Christopher James Estrade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Estrade of Bay St. Louis, was baptized Sunday, June 1, at Our Lady of Gulf Catholic Church with Brother Albert Guarino, S.C., officiating.

Godparents are a maternal aunt and uncle Miss Theresa Marie Ryan and James Martin Ryan.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Estrade home.

ARE YOU AFRAID OF DYING?

Physical death, the separation of the soul and the body, is a fact of our human existence. When viewed from the fleshly standpoint, death it seems, is the most tragic of all human experiences.

It seems to us the destruction of a person who was made in the image and likeness of God.

It seems to take away forever one whom we love. In our sorrow and despair it seems to have neither remedy nor hope.

It is to some a dark experience. Even the Bible says, "...It is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgement," Hebrews 9:27.

Is there any hope in the face of death? That question has plagued the minds of men through all generations. In the ancient writings of Old Testament scriptures, God's servant, Job, raised this all-important question: "If a man die, shall he live again?" Job 14:14.

This question was not raised in hopelessness, but rather in assurance. Job follows by saying, "All the days of my appointed time will I wait, till my change come. Thou shalt call, and I will answer thee: thou wilt have a desire to the work of thine hand."

Death is as universal as sin. The soul of man, that which the surgeon nor the undertaker never see, and the grave-digger cannot hide and the grave cannot contain, is eternal.

The destiny of the soul depends upon what we do with Christ while we live.

God has spoken plainly in His Word concerning the believer's hope in the face of death. Jesus said: "I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: for whosoever believeth in me shall never die..." John 11:25-26.

So goes the teachings of Jesus, Paul and other inspired writers throughout the Bible to encourage assurance and inspire hope in our hearts as we fondly anticipate the joy of reunion with loved ones in the day of resurrection.

Such an assurance and joy will surely give meaning and inspiration to your life today. For the child of God, death is a doorway, not a state into which one enters. "It is a triumph, not a tragedy. It does not end conscious existence, but rather elevates it with the infinite scope of eternity."

There comes the day when death itself will be swallowed up in victory of resurrection. Meanwhile, death holds no terror for the Christian.

"...For I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day," -II Timothy 1:12.

News of St. Clare's

Q. I have been having an affair with a married man whom I know I can never have. It is just killing me knowing that I cannot be with him and the dreams I have are only empty. I'm so worn out and sad to think about giving him up. I have a wonderful family. Is this being fair to them? I take an active part in church. Do you think a Christian should think and act like this? I'm so jealous and unsure of everything.

A. Of course a Christian should not do as you are doing. It is one hundred percent wrong. So cut it out if you want peace of mind. Since you can never have this married man, you will ultimately have to check him off, so you had better do it now before you get yourself into a mess of trouble. Don't settle for this miserable, make-believe life when you can have a real good one.

Q. My 55-year-old daughter has a good education and a well-paying job in an office where she has worked 22 years. She is continuously bothered with all of the other employees in the office. These girls are all young, not able to spell and read, so they come to my daughter and ask to do their work. They call her "an old woman." My daughter is a nervous wreck and says she cannot go on this way. She says she asks God to help her, but He does not hear her. I

'He who honoreth his father shall have a long life'

Today is Father's Day. In the Book of Wisdom, it is written: "Whoso honoreth his father maketh an atonement for his sins, and he that honoreth his mother layeth up treasure."

A Japanese proverb says: "A father's goodness is higher than the mountains; a mother's goodness is deeper than the sea."

Confucius, the great Chinese philosopher, said: "There are three degrees of filial piety. The highest is being a credit to your parents; the second is not disgracing your parents; and the other is being able simply to support them."

All down through the ages, great men and humble have paid tribute to their parents. The ancient Greek Socrates said some 300 years before Christ:

"Conduct thyself toward thy parents as thou wouldst wish thy children to conduct themselves towards thee."

Most of all, we honor ourselves when we pay tribute to and acknowledge our parents.

There is the promise, "He that honoreth his father shall have a long life." I can give a good example of the truth of this old proverb; and that example is my own father, who died at 95-years-old.

I must have been about 8 or 10-years-old when my grandmother died. My grandfather came to live in our home and lived there the last few years of his life, according to my memory, about 6 or 7 years.

The old man, then up around 80, was treated always with the utmost consideration and respect. During his last days he was in bed and had to be nursed and looked after.

I well remember that both of my parents were up with him, lovingly caring for him for the greater part of the night for many weeks before he passed away.

Never was there any complaint on their part. During the cold winter months the fire in the big fireplace never went out, but stayed bright and warm in my grandfather's room.

While I did not think much about it then, I have since realized the high affection and respect of my parents for the old man, which prompted such uncomplaining care for so long.

There were no hospitals or old folks homes back then, but if there had been I am sure he would have been cared for in the same way, as back then each family took care of their own.

In the case of my parents, it is true that "He that honoreth his father shall have a long life."

I might add that my mother died at 91-years-old, and my father at 95, and that both my father and mother lived in the old home, both of them in good health and actively busy around the place almost as they were 40 or 60 years before.

He read the daily paper without glasses and cultivated a good sized garden, besides having a flower garden in the front yard of the old home; while she busied herself with the activities of the household. I regularly got letters from them, and visited them every few weeks.

Comradeship between a father and son or grandfather and grandchild is always an inspiring sight to me. There was a man here in Picayune, Sam Russ, who when around 80-years-old had the biggest time of his life going around over town with his little granddaughter, and explaining things to her, and having her explain things to him.

Sometime back, an old man over 80 from over near Pearl River came walking up the street with his little grandson, about 4 years old. Each was completely absorbed in the other; the old man talking explaining things to her, and having her explain things to him.

This scene reminded me of a clipping I had put away about a dad and his lad, which follows:

"When you see a young fellow, an upstanding lad, go by in the street, keeping pace with his dad; when the smiles of their eyes, as they mix with the crowd show that each one is pleased with the other, and proud, it's a heart gripping sight, it's inspiring and fine to know that in life they are toiling the line - a dad and his lad, together."

"A lad has his troubles - to him they are real; some troubles, perhaps, that he tries to conceal. But the little lad likes to depend on a fellow who cares - a fellow who listens, a fellow who shares - and feels mighty proud of the chance to confide in the man whom he honors, the dad at his side."

"The fame of the land is not measured in gold, not judged by its mines and the treasures they had. It merits distinction and confidence when throughout its dominion are real manly men. A sight that's inspiring, heart gripping, and fine, is a dad and his lad who together toe the line."

I have heard it said that when you see a man that inspires the love and confidence of little children, that you can trust him to the limit. Pearl Carter Phillips wrote this, the title, A Girl's Best Beau:

"When I was a little tad, I followed close beside my Dad. I mimicked everything he did. I even called my hat a lid. I thought his stride was quite OK and tried my best to walk that way. I had some shirts and jeans of blue; I wanted boots and jack-knife, too. My fists were always quick to fight, just to prove my Dad was right. Now that I have grown up tall, I have not changed my mind at all! I seem to feel the same old way about Dad, this very day! I'm sending orchids to you, Dad - the nicest beau I ever had."

When the son swore or misbehaved, Diogenes whipped the father, saving that the son becomes what he is through the father. Most boys, especially small boys, idolize their father - the father is a hero to most small boys.

I read this little story; the title is Just Like His Dad! It reads:

"Well, what are you going to be, my boy, when you have reached manhood's years - a doctor, a lawyer, or actor great, moving throngs to laughter and tears?"

But he shook his head as he gave reply, in a serious way that he had: "I don't think I'd care to be any of them - I want to be just like my Dad."

"He wants to be like his Dad! You men, did you ever think as you pause, that the boy who watches your every move is building a set of laws? He's molding a life you're the model for; and whether it's good or bad depends on the kind of example set to the boy who'd be like his dad."

"Would you have him go everywhere you go? Have him do just the things you do? And see everything that your eyes behold, and woo all the gods you woo? When you see the worship that shines in the eyes of your lovable little lad, could you be content if he gets his wish, and grows up like his Dad?"

"It's a job that none but yourself can fill, it's a charge you must answer for; it's a duty to show him the road to tread ere he reaches his manhood's door. It's a debt you owe for the greatest joy on this old earth to be had - the pleasure of having a boy to raise, who wants to be like his Dad!"

Thales of Miletus said, "The same measure of gratitude which we show our parents, we may expect from our children."

To love and honor our parents, this is the first law of nature.

Sunday, June 15th is Father's Day. Let's all, whose fathers are living, show him that we appreciate him. Most important of all, go to see him if you possibly can. If you can't, then do the next best thing by writing him a letter telling him that you do appreciate him.

Someone has said that Father's Day is any day that the family does not spend more than he makes. In most families father is the one who pays and pays and pays and much of the time without much show of appreciation from the other members of the family.

Well, let's all make Sunday, June 15, a real Father's Day by showing him how much we really appreciate him.

County school employees receive salary increase

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Hancock County School Board has unanimously approved pay increases for non-certified personnel and the superintendent of education.

Superintendent of Education Billy D. Sills recommended the board approve an 11 percent pay raise on base salary and a one-half percent increase increment for each year of service.

Board Member Monvel Cuevas recommended the superintendent's salary be increased to $30,000 per year. "This is a $3,500 raise and I think he deserves it," Cuevas said.

In other business, at the 9 a.m. recess meeting in the district's Bay St. Louis offices, the board:

—Approved a motion to go into executive session to discuss a student;

—Approved hiring Melanie Seals as an office aide at Hancock North Central Elementary;

—Approved Title One teachers' aides for the 1980-81 school year;

—Approved payment of $107 on the hospital bill for a Mrs. Glass, a cafeteria worker who slipped and broke several ribs.

Board President Woodrow Ladner said the $107 was the deductible amount on the district's insurance policy;

—Approved a project proposal and application presented by Federal Coordinator Harlin Hill for matching funds from the Mississippi Authority for Educational Television. Hill said the district will pay $2,485 for $3,995 of electronic video equipment for Charles B. Murphy Elementary and Gulfview Elementary School;

—Approved Title Four project applications for the 1980-81 school year submitted by Hill. A Part B Title Four project will provide $5,499 of state funds for library books for the school district. A Part A Title Four project will provide $31,056 for a tutoring program for potential dropout students. Hill said the program would help reduce the number of dropout students and if a child is suspended he will still receive instruction;

—Authorized a $19,000 payment to MIRI, Inc. of Long Beach for reroofing work at Gulfview;

—Authorized amending the ad valorem budget, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1980, from $263,608 to $267,881;

—Authorized a $17,350 payment to Bay Contractors, Inc. of Diamondhead for reconstruction work at Gulfview;

—Authorized a $3,000 advancement to Architect John Mykolik of Pass Christian for his work on the HNC handicapped center's plans;

—Heard a report from Cuevas that washed gravel was needed for the sumps at Hancock North Central;

—Heard a report from Ladner that School District Land Manager Terry Randolph is studying the possibility of selling dirt and gravel off of 16th Section lands;

—Heard a request from school patron John Ladner that the school board adopt a resolution protecting employees' from harassment and that grievances be handled through a chain of command. Board President Ladner said the board already had such a policy;

—Heard a request from HNC Teacher Lynette Necaise asking Sills if the seventh and eighth grades would have a reading program. Sills said "If I have it my way it will be implemented," but he added he didn't want to be "tied down to something I'm still looking into."

"This is the only product we make, and I hope drillers can find a lot of black gold in Hancock County," Boudreaux stated.

The former attorney reported his company has netted $278,000 in the first six months of the fiscal year.

Boudreaux explained he also owns the Mississippi Pumping Company located in Hancock County, and does business with local attorneys and banks.

"We expect to net $1.5 million this year with that figure increasing every year," he said.

"We don't need any railroad service or any sewerage. We do not pollute the air or discharge any polluted water," Boudreaux explained.

Commissioner Fred Curet asked if any setback could be incurred by the company if the economic situation in the country were to worsen.

"Only if the oil drilling industry were to cease," Boudreaux replied.

"I think that even in a deep economic depression, we would be more secure than most. All facets of the drilling industry would be the last to go under in that situation," he added.

Commissioner David McDonald asked why Boudreaux chose Stennis Airport as a location instead of Port Bienville Industrial Park.

"First and foremost, I live in Diamondhead, which is nearby," Boudreaux said.

"Secondly, we may have to fly to other offices in the United States, and the airstrip will be available here. And thirdly, we are in a good location, close to Kiln, Delisle, and Waveland," he added.

"We will need some skilled labor for management, but I think any high school dropout who is strong and willing to learn could master the laborer skills in less than a week," he continued.

"In addition to the 10 original employees, we will need six women to trim the product. Women seem to work better at this job," Boudreaux stated.

The commissioners all agreed the business could be an asset to the county, but took no action on the matter.

UNO 'founder' retires June 30 after 40 years in LSU System

University of New Orleans Chancellor Homer L. Hitt, a summer resident of North Second Street in Bay St. Louis, recently addressed spring commencement ceremonies in the UNO Health and Physical Education Center.

The ceremonies were the last under Dr. Hitt's 23 years as chief administrative officer of UNO. He is retiring June 30.

Presiding at the ceremonies, a function normally performed by Chancellor Hitt, was Gordon E. Dore, chairman, LSU Board of Supervisors, and Norris V. Fitzmorris, chairman of the Board's UNO committee.

Dore preside at an afternoon program; Fitzmorris during the evening program.

Dr. Martin D. Woodin, president of the LSU System, awarded the degrees at both ceremonies.

Dr. Hitt went to New Orleans as dean of what was then Louisiana State University in New Orleans, a not-yet-open university located on the site of an abandoned Naval Station at the Lake Ponchartrain lakefront.

Since its opening in 1958, the university has grown to the second largest in the state, with an enrollment of 14,500.

Dr. Hitt was associate dean of LSU Baton Rouge Graduate School when he was tapped in 1957 to serve as dean of LSUNO. When he assumed that position on December, 15, 1957, he was the university's only employee.

He had joined the LSU faculty in 1941 and during his tenure on the Baton Rouge Campus served as professor and head of the departments of sociology and rural sociology.

Dr. Hitt was also a clinical professor of preventive medicine at the LSU School of Medicine from 1953-57.

A native of Comanche, Texas, he moved to Baton Rouge at the age of 17 to attend LSU where he earned his bachelor's degree in biological sciences and chemistry and his master's in rural sociology and agricultural economics.

He also earned a master's degree and a Ph.D. from Harvard University. During the latter part of World War II he served as an ensign in the U.S. Naval Reserve.

In 1959 Dr. Hitt was named vice president of LSUNO and in 1963, chancellor.

The University's name was changed to the University of New Orleans in February, 1974.

Until UNO opened in 1958, New Orleans was the only metropolitan center of its size in the nation without a state university within its boundaries.

Only freshmen were accepted in 1958, with a class being added each year. UNO awarded its first master's degrees to six graduates, students in 1965 and its first Ph.D. in 1967.

To date, 79 associate degrees, 13,882 bachelor's degrees, 3,024 master's degrees and 140 doctoral degrees have been awarded by the university.

An estimated 82 percent of UNO's 17,000 alumni reside in the Greater New Orleans area.

The first classes were held in "temporary" navy buildings which have since been replaced by 17 modern buildings. Two of the three buildings in a Life Sciences Complex are well under construction and a third and fourth floor are scheduled to be added to the library within the near future.

When he announced his resignation in January of this year, Hitt noted such upcoming advancements at UNO as off-campus centers, a metropolitan assembly center by the State Legislature in 1979 and proposed programs in Naval architecture and marine engineering.

Throughout the years Chancellor Hitt has served on numerous civic, cultural and philanthropic boards and political commissions.
